DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

DATES TO FEBRUARY 17.

Congressional

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—In the Senate the report of the Conference Committee on the bill amending the acts relating to the navy were agreed to.

The Attorney General has been directed to furnish a list of all pardoned revenue convicts.

Saturday is assigned for the consideration of the naturalization bill, and Monday for the finance bill.

The committee on public buildings has reported adversely to the purchase of a new site for an executive mansion.

In the Senate the Judiciary Committee reported adversely on Sumner's bill to strike out the word white from the naturalization laws. They also reported adversely on allowing Senator Miller, of Georgia, to take his seat.

Edmunds, from the same committee, reported that the President's Christmas amnesty proclamation was not authorized by the Constitution or laws.

Ramsey reported the House bill to regulate the franking privilege, so amended as to require the written signature of all persons entitled to the franking privilege, except the heads of Departments and Bureaus, who may use a stamp under regulations prescribed by the Postmaster General.

Trumbull reported a bill for retiring Supreme Judges, at the age of seventy, on a full salary for the remainder of their life.

On motion of Stewart a message from the House was taken up, asking a Committee of Conference on the constitutional amendment. Stewart moved the Senate insist on the amendment and order a Committee of Conference.

Williams and Buckalew thought the subject too important for such a committee. The Senate received and agreed to the resolution of the House.

Buckalew addressed the Senate in favor of the abolition of the Electoral College and a direct election by the people. Many States would refuse to ratify such amendments and thus lessen their influence; therefore Congress should have power to prescribe the mode of choosing Electors.

Cameron said this would allow the dominant party before the Presidential election to gerrymander States for partisan benefit.

Williams, Wilson and others gave their views on the best mode of electing the President. After discussion the Senate acceded, by 33 to 23.

Morton moved to reconsider the vote and appoint a committee of conference. Lost—22 to 34. The Senate refused to concur in the House amendments—31 to 27.

Stewart moved to proceed with the consideration of the Constitutional amendment reported by the Judiciary Committee. Carried.

Nye and Howard opposed the resolution. Welch favored it. Several other amendments were rejected. Nye moved to strike out the enacting clause and substitute the amendment of the House. Howard offered a substitute, which was defeated. Hendricks' amendment, submitting the amendment to the most numerous branch which was elected after the adoption by Congress, was lost—12 to 40.

Dixon's proposition to substitute "convention" for "legislature," was lost.

The report of the Senate Judiciary Committee was adopted—ayes 35, nays 11. Adjourned.

In the House, the Election Committee reported adversely to either of the Louisiana contestants being allowed a seat.

The act supplementary to the national banking act was considered—the previous question having been seconded yesterday.

Pomeroy yielded a portion of his time to Poland, Butler, Price, Wood, Griswold and Ingersoll, who made brief remarks.

The Buckalew amendment, allowing a bank circulation of a million and a quarter to each member of Congress, was rejected.

Smith's amendment to decrease the minimum circulation by two hundred millions, was rejected.

Coburn's amendment for the issue of circulating notes by banking associations, States and Territories having less than their pro rata of banking circulation, was adopted—ayes 94, nays 86. A motion to reconsider this latter amendment was tabled.

Ingersoll's pending amendment was to strike out sections 2 and 4. The point of order was made that the House having adopted the substitute of Coburn for the fourth section, it was not in order to strike it out. The Speaker pro tem., Blaine, overruled the objection, and Ingersoll's amendment was agreed to—84 to 58. So the second and fourth sections are struck out and other sections substituted.

After several other amendments had been disposed of, Wood moved that the bill be tabled. Agreed to—92 against 78.

Wood moved to reconsider the latter vote and to lay that motion on the table.

Ingersoll moved to adjourn. Pending the vote by ayes and nays, the House took a recess. The evening session will be for appropriation bills.

The Cuban Insurrection

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The Herald's special from Havana says that several prominent men have been arrested on suspicion of being concerned in a conspiracy.

News from Valmazida is to the 11th. It mentions a severe encounter in which the insurgents lost thirty men.

Dulce released a Cuban arrested yesterday, on producing his American naturalization papers.

This city is practically in a state of siege. Dulce is urged to formally declare it so, but he is disinclined.

Cubans are applying daily for permission to take refuge in the United States flagship.

In case of trouble in the city Admiral Hoff has consented to take Americans to Key West.

A letter from Trinidad says that the Cubans have raised the standard of revolt everywhere and destroyed the telegraph lines and also stopped the mails.

Dispatches from Neuvitas report bands pillaging the plantations. The insurgents firmly hold a position in the vicinity of the town.

The negroes are wandering about the country unrestrained.

Many Spaniards are in the ranks of the insurgents.

Dulce's wife will soon leave for Spain.

The government has news of a rising near Matanzas of a large number of rebels. The greatest alarm prevails.

HAVANA, Feb. 17.—Dulce continues his efforts to suppress the revolution. The permission to carry arms has been revoked. All arms have been ordered to be given up to the Government within four days.

Indians Suing for Peace.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 17.—Official information from Washita Mountains says all the Kiowa Indians have come in with the exception of five or six lodges. The advance of the Arapahoes and Cheyennes have also arrived, and the remainder are approaching. All will be placed on the Reservation.

Kentucky Items

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 17.—Aaron Jones, the pugilist, died yesterday.

Advices from Harlan county, Kentucky, give accounts of murders and depredations committed by armed bands of ruffians.

The Capital of West Virginia.

WHEELING, Feb. 17.—The West Virginia House has passed a bill locating the State capital at Parkersburg.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE

PARIS, Feb. 17.—Reports that the ex-King Ferdinand has consented to be a candidate for the Spanish throne are premature. He still refuses to allow his name to be used in that connection.

A majority of the constituents of Cortez are opposed to Montpensier and there is little prospect of his success.

The New York and Chicago [illegible] are having a first class "unpleasantness" about the relative merits of eastern and western men in the fields of politics, statesmanship, arms, enterprise and ability generally. The Chicago Tribune has the advantage in both facts and arguments.

Gov. Hayes has communicated to the Legislature the memorial for repairing the grounds inclosing the tomb of President Harrison with a recommendation that the State accept the guardianship of the tomb, as proposed.

Aid for the Pacific Railroads

From a very [illegible] article on this subject, contributed to a leading Eastern journal, we extract the following:

1. The [illegible] in the first place [illegible] were passed to [illegible] Northern and a Southern [illegible] with the [illegible] of [illegible] in the bonds [illegible] two [illegible] years [illegible] very little [illegible] More [illegible] the Government [illegible] supplies [illegible] sinking fund [illegible] the interest and principal [illegible] as they fall due [illegible]. Many people have grossly exaggerated ideas of the amount the Government is expending for the Central Road on its various divisions and branches. The following are the entire figures up to June 15, 1868:

Total amount of bonds issued......	$28,000,000
Total amount of interest paid on them	$2,114,197
Total accumulated Sinking Fund from mail and transportation service	765,468
Total amount actually expended by Gov't	$1,348,729

By June 15, 1869, the road will be completed. The total amount of bonds then issued in aid of it will be $[illegible],000. The total amount of accrued interest on the bonds, less the sinking fund accumulated by withholding half the amount due from the Government to the road for transportation, will be under $[illegible],000. By June 15, 1870, this sinking fund will doubtless have swept away altogether the balance against the road on interest, and the road will be ready to begin to extinguish the principal. In other words within one year after the completion of the road every dollar the Government has advanced for it will have been paid back, and the road will begin to accumulate a fund for paying the principal of the bonds issued to aid it. Nor is this all. During the year 1867, the average length of the Nebraska and the Kansas divisions of that road combined was 5[illegible]7 miles. The actual saving to Government, upon that short portion of the line over the sum it would have been compelled to pay, at the contract price of that year, if these military supplies had been wagoned, the troops marched and the mails carried in coaches, was $2,772,140. These figures carry a lesson which the croakers will do well to study.

2. So far from increasing the public debt, these roads will actually help to pay it—not by reverting to the Government at the end of two or three generations, as in France and Belgium, but by a mode equally sure and more expeditious. If work is begun upon them at once our annual product of gold and silver now variously estimated at $70,000,000 to $100,000,000, will double within the next twelve years. New Mexico and Arizona, now comparatively unproductive, are two of our richest mineral regions, and will produce bullion very largely, whenever a Southern road removes their two chief difficulties—inaccessibleness and Indian troubles. Montana alone, first settled in 1862, is believed to have yielded already, in gold and silver, $65,000,000. Montana, Idaho, Washington, and Oregon, remote as they are, produce annually $2,000,000, or more than one-third of our entire yield of bullion. A Northern road will will soon double that by reducing the cost of machinery, labor, and supplies, and thus making available lower grades of ore, which at the present high prices will not pay the expenses of working. The roads will also stimulate enormously the copper, iron, and coal product of New Mexico and Arizona, the timber and copper product of Minnesota, and the coal, iron, and lumber product of Oregon and Washington.

3. Our public lands now unsold and unappropriated amount to 1,414,561,575 acres. Left alone, most of them will lie idle and unsaleable for many years. Opening these roads will throw hundreds of millions of acres into the market, stimulating immigration from Europe, and building up regions now wild and waste into great States, which will help pay interest and principal of the public debt. In 1853 Kansas had no white population, and her lands were unsaleable at any price. In 1867 her white population was over 300,000, and her values in other items had swelled to these enormous figures:

Farms and farming implements......	$40,000,000
Live stock	40,000,000
Crops for 1867......	35,000,000
Total......	$115,000,000

The values which had grown up in fourteen years exceeded $100,000,000—nearly all actually created from her own soil. In 1858, Kansas paid directly $250,000 of the Federal taxes. The Indian Territory alone, due south of Kansas, to be opened up by a Southern road, is a much larger and richer tract of land. The completion of those lines to the Pacific will build up eight or ten new States, which, unlike Kansas, lack great navigable rivers, and must therefore be developed by railways or not at all.

4. Increased confidence in our securities, both in Europe and America, is the sole thing needed to enable us to carry the public debt easily. Nine years ago, any one asserting that two thirds of our States could carry a debt of more than $2,000,000,000 through several years of war, and at the end of that time actually find themselves richer than before, would have been hooted as a madman. So, with the restored order and confidence that will come with an Administration in which the capital of own country and Europe reposes implicit trust, many of our difficulties will melt into thin air. And no one thing will do more to inspire confidence everywhere in our ability to pay easily all our indebtedness than the spectacle of the United States, so soon after a devastating civil war, inaugurating a system of trans-continental railways the most magnificent and commanding on the globe.

5. The Indian question is forever recurring. Even now, after all our experience, we are compelled to send Sheridan on a long and costly winter campaign, and every month brings news of the massacre of families on the frontier. The report of the Secretary of War, December 30, shows that the cost of our attempts to suppress the Indian hostilities in 1864-5 alone footed up to $30,000,000, and our total expenditures for that purpose during the last six years are estimated by Mr. Windom at $100,000,000. It is cheaper to build Pacific railroads than to fight Indians. The only settlement of the question lies in extending the roads, with their broad belts of self protecting settlements to the Pacific. They will reduce our standing army, both by leaving us far fewer posts to guard and enabling us to throw troops from one point to another far more expeditiously and cheaper than now. The saving in this respect every year after the completion of three roads will be far more than the interest upon all bonds issued to them. And at least a Northern and a Southern line shall receive the same aid as that now being extended to the Central.

6. The foreign commerce of China is nearly $[illegible]. The growing intimacy of that ancient empire with the modern nations and the system of railways which must soon thread it will swell the amount enormously year after year. There is no other such prize in the commercial world. All the leading nations are reaching for it. The Emperor of Russia is building a railway to the frontier of China. Great Britain is agitating the question of extending her India railway system to the Chinese frontier. A French company, after working ten years and expending [illegible], has nearly completed a canal across the Isthmus of Suez, [illegible] Europe to Asia. [illegible] the Mississippi Valley [illegible] that the Chinese like American merchants far better than English and [illegible] more of the English are now settled [illegible] are gaining year by year. The building up of great Chinese commercial houses in San Francisco is opening and preparing the way for a vast Chinese trade in America.

POOR IMITATION.—The Springfield (Mass.) Republican recently published a story which was evidently expected to make a sensation, but which is but a poor imitation of Gulliver, and makes no noise at all. The following are the features of the story.

It is entitled "Wahbo: The Northern Polar Continent," and purports to be the narrative of a [illegible] who was engaged in the whale fisheries of the North Pacific Ocean, and drifted away in an open boat. When at the point of death, the current which had borne him onward drove his boat upon the coast of an Arctic Continent, and he was rescued by the people who inhabit it. He was borne inland to a great valley or basin, in the centre of which is the magnetic pole; a wide opening in the earth from which escapes an immense current of electricity, furnishing light and heat to the surrounding country. The people are a nation of lilliputs, four feet to four feet and a third in stature. They live in booths, sleep upon beds of moss, wear a girdle of feathers—nothing more—and subsist entirely upon fruits and vegetables which abound everywhere. Among the fruits the favorite is the tene, a jelly-like fruit possessing the intoxicating properties of brandy. There is no summer nor winter, nor rain nor clouds, nor night. The people do no work except to construct their booths of willows and beds of moss. They eat and sleep when inclination prompts. They live in thirty-two villages averaging probably two thousand each. They worship the central chasm and the pillar of fire that rises from it, calling it Wah or Weya, from which the name of their country in derived.

After spending nine years with this singular people, Forrsman again took to his boat and drifted out to sea. At last he was stranded on the coast of Alaska, barely alive; was cared for by the widow of a Russian hunter and died in her house, leaving a narrative of his adventures in her possesion. There it came into the possession of a German naturalist, named Adolph Bertfried, who communicates it to the Republican.

A COLONY PROJECT.—E. B. Murphy, who from 1863 to 1866 was an army officer stationed at various points along the Platte, and engaged in scouting for Indians in that valley and its neighborhood, is organizing a semi-military colony for the settlement of the Republican valley. He describes it as a magnificent country, with fertile lands, abundance of oak, walnut and other timber, excellent water, and the best of stock range and shelter. He proposes to organize a colony of not less than fifty men, and hopes to make it one hundred and fifty. They are to be supplied with saw mill, blacksmith shop, carpenters' and other tools, and provisions for eighteen months. Each man is to be properly armed, and the military control is to be in the hands of Mr Murphy. The settlement is to locate in a stockade until such time as all danger from Indians shall have passed. The heads of the mechanical and agricultural departments will be elected by the colonists. It is intended that each member shall secure a homestead of one hundred and sixty acres, and when all have been improved, and the objects of the organized community consummated, the association shall be dissolved.

The plan is quite elaborate, and looks practicable. The country chosen is doubtless the best now remaining for settlement. Its area is large, and this colony will have the first selection of location and lands. It can hardly fail. The colonists are to rendezvous at Plattsmouth, Nebraska, early in April and take up their line of march by the fifteenth of that month.—Denver News.

A NUT FOR GEOLOGISTS.—A remarkable discovery was made in the underground workings of the Star Mine. In a lot of ore sent to Davidson's mill at Silver Mountain, in September, 1867, for experimental test, there was found imbedded in the solid ore "an arrow-head of solid silver," four inches in length, having a small piece of the root of a tree attached to the point. The ore was taken from the vein at a depth of three hundred feet below the surface. This arrow-head was an inch broad at the base, where it was attached to the shaft, and split down about an inch, and pressed apart, evidently for giving it a better hold on the wood. At the point, it was about half an inch wide, and of the uniform thickness of an eighth of an inch. The silver was slightly alloyed with tin, but otherwise very pure. It was perfectly incrusted with rich sulphurets of silver, which, scaled off, revealed this wonderful relic of another age and people. This arrow-head and the ore which incased it I carefully examined while at Silver Mountain last Summer. It was in the possession of the Hon. Henry Eno, Judge of Alpine county.—Nevada Letter.

A man passing through the country during an exciting local political canvass rode up to a farm-house, and accosted a tow-headed urchin who was seated on the top of a gate post: "Bub, where's your pa?" The youngster eyed the stranger curiously for a moment, and then replied: "Pap's just gone down [illegible] the cowshed to bury our old dorg. The darned old fool killed himself a barkin' at candidates for Sheriff. Be you one?" The [illegible] rode on.

There are but five tunnels in the U. P. R. R. between Omaha and the connection with the Central Pacific. These five tunnels are, first at St. Mary's creek 164 feet, second, on Sulpher creek, 140 feet, third, at the head of Echo Canon 840 feet, fourth and fifth, on Weber river, 400 and 300 feet respectively. The total feet of tunneling on the road, 1868.

THE LADIES BUY THEIR BEAUTIFUL BAS[illegible] [illegible]

Woman Suffrage

The subjoined extract, from an address [illegible] delivered by Dr Thompson, of New [illegible], presents, perhaps the strongest pos[illegible] view of this question, to be taken from [illegible] objector's stand point. Even the sex will [illegible] ally admit that both sides should be [illegible]. Says the Doctor:

Even if the ballot could raise woman politi[illegible]ally, the nation cannot afford so to degrade [illegible] by divesting them of the sentiments [illegible] delicacy of honor, of loyalty [illegible] chivalry and arraying the sexes in the con[illegible] of numbers. Woman cannot hope to act [illegible] herself in public life and still receive the [illegible] consideration now accorded to the [illegible] of her sex. She must choose be[illegible] the two, and if she shall elect the lat[illegible], she will inevitably find, in what direction [illegible] she forces herself outside the sphere [illegible] delicate and chivalrous regard into the [illegible] of labors and of numbers, she is [illegible] a step toward her own degradation. If [illegible] can brave the opprobrium, society cannot [illegible] the consequences.

It is assumed that woman will bring to the [illegible] a soothing element and improve the [illegible] results of elections. On the contrary, [illegible] greater intensity of feeling for persons [illegible] bring a keener acrimony into our polit[illegible] campaigns. We cannot forget how the [illegible] of the South incited the rebellion [illegible] inflamed its hatred and atrocity; nor that [illegible] produced the worst monstrosities of [illegible] French revolution, nor can we shut our [illegible] to the fact that in great cities the servile [illegible] of the sex would roll up the majorities [illegible] the demagogues, and that Washington [illegible] have its Maintenons and Pompadours [illegible] their intrigues to its political corrup[illegible]. The history of church elections in [illegible] Abbesses had a voice, is a warning; [illegible] But the calamity to be shunned is [illegible] men, ceasing to respect and honor wo[illegible] in their prerogative of influence, shall [illegible] or court them as an element of numer[illegible] power' for when the spirit of chivalry [illegible] its generous 'loyalty to sex is gone, the [illegible] of the Republic will be extinguished [illegible]ever.

WHITE PINE AND ITS SURROUNDINGS. — J. J. Owen, editor of the San Jose Mercury, has just returned from White Pine, and remarking upon it he says:

Of the other locations in this region their [illegible] is almost legion. We are assured that [illegible] locations have averaged one hundred per [illegible] for the last three months. And, as wonderful as it may seem, there is scarcely a [illegible] upon which any considerable amount of work has been done that does not exhibit pay [illegible]. It is estimated that pay ore is now be[illegible] mined from at least 500 mines in this dis[illegible]. Along Main street of Treasure City—a street winding around a high bluff of Treasure Hill—in several places where excavations have been made on the upper side of the street for building purposes, pay ore has been struck in large quantities, and the building site has been converted into a valuable mine.

There has been as yet but little snow to interfere with prospecting—not more than from eight to ten inches, and that on the [illegible]therly side of the mountains is rapidly disappearing.

Of the climate and the sanitary condition of the place, perhaps but little can be said in [illegible]mendation. It is about the last place I should think of selecting as a place of permanent abode. Considering the large number of people in the district, and the exposure and discomfort to which they are subjected, I do not think there is an unusual amount of sickness. Pneumonia, colds, and throat diseases are said to prevail to a great extent; but I have seen but very little confirmatory thereof.

New buildings are going up as fast as lumber can be had at the exorbitant price of $400 per thousand for common, and some of it is [illegible]cidedly common at that. Of course the buildings are very rude and primitive in their [illegible]struction. Many people are living in [illegible]ents, and some in holes in the rocks. Town property on the main business street is held at $100 per front foot; and almost any little cabin will rent readily for $100 per month.

Commissioner Rollins has prepared an amendment to the tax law exempting newspaper publish[illegible] from the tax now imposed upon them as man[illegible] of others. The amendment will be submitted to the Committee on Ways and Means, some of the members of that committee being in favor of the proposed alteration of the law.

STOW FOUNDATION PAVEMENT.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 18, 1869.

Hon. Frank McCoppin, Mayor of [illegible] Francisco—Dear Sir: You have now been connected [illegible] our City Government as Supervisor and Mayor for the past nine years, during which time you must have given a great deal of attention to Street Paving, and I now ask it as a special favor to me, that you give briefly, [illegible] writing, the result of your convictions relative to the several styles of street paving now in use in this city. By doing you will much oblige.

Your obedient servant,
H. F. WILLIAMS,
President Stow Foundation Pavement Co

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20th, 1869.

Henry F. Williams, Esq., President of the S. F. P. [illegible]—Dear Sir: Your communication of yesterday, re[illegible] me to give in writing my opinion relative to the several kinds of street pavement now in use in this city, [illegible] before me, and in reply I would say, that at the time I became a municipal officer of this city, in 1860, and for many years thereafter cobble-stone was the only kind of pavement used by the city in its corporate, and by individuals in their individual capacity. About five years [illegible] the Nicolson pavement was introduced here by Mr. [illegible] J. Robbins, assignee of the owner of the patent, and [illegible] received with much favor by our citizens. Very many portions of our streets are now paved with the Nicolson Pavement, so-called—still later—that is to say, about two years ago, the "Stow Foundation Pavement" [illegible] introduced here by the inventor, and many of our [illegible] streets have since been paved with that pavement. A sufficient length of time has, I think, elapsed, to enable any person who has given the subject any attention, to form an intelligent opinion as to the merits of the respective wooden pavements—of course, I leave the cobble-stones out of view entirely—and I have come to the conclusion, that, in many respects, such as adaptability to our wants and in durability, the Stow is the superior pavement. But, were the two pavements equal in every other respect, the facility with which the Stow can be taken up and relaid, whenever it becomes necessary to do so for the purpose of laying down gas and water pipes, should, in my judgment, entitle it to preference and public favor.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
FRANK McCOPPIN,
Mayor of the City of San Francisco

We, the undersigned, have carefully read the above letter from his Honor, Frank McCoppin to H. F. Williams, Esq., upon the subject of street paving, and we fully indorse every word it contains.

No pay will be made for trips not performed, and for each of such omissions not satisfactorily explained, three times the pay of the trip may be deducted. For arrivals so far behind time as to break connections with depending mails, and not sufficiently excused, one fourth of the compensation for the trip is subject to forfeiture. Fines will be imposed, unless the delinquency be satisfactorily explained, for neglecting to take the mail from or into a post office; for suffering it to be injured, robbed, or lost, and for refusing, after demand, to convey the mail as frequently as the contractor runs, or is concerned in running vehicles on the route. The Postmaster General may annul the contract for disobeying the post office laws, or the instructions of the department. He may alter the schedule of departures and arrivals, and also order an increase of service by allowing therefor a pro rata increase on the contract pay. He may also curtail or discontinue the service in whole or in part, at a pro rata decrease upon allowing one month's extra compensation on the amount of service dispensed with. Bids should be addressed to the "Second Assistant Postmaster General," superscribed "Proposals, State of Oregon," and sent by mail.

For forms of proposal, &c., and other information, see advertisement of this date, in pamphlet form, at the principal post offices.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system. Let parents, guardians friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. New York Gold Quotations	131½

EASTERN OREGON.—We have a letter from Grand Ronde valley, dated Feb. 15th, from which we make the following extracts: "We have a newspaper published here (the Grand Ronde Sentinel) but it is so much absorbed in contemplation of the Resolutions of '98 and the fearful increase of the public debt, and other things of which it knows nothing, that it has not room or inclination to publish much about local matters, and when it does it is more than likely to get them wrong. For instance, an enterprising gentleman of this valley, at considerable pains, collected some statistics concerning the products of Union county, and having furnished a copy to the Sentinel, had the pleasure of seeing his notes published as follows: Instead of 200,000 bushels of oats, it was published 20,000; and wheat, instead of 300,000 bushels, was 30,000 and so on through the list. Now, I wish to say a word about the weather of the present winter in this valley, as our local paper has entirely neglected to mention it. There has not been an inch of snow at any time the present winter. The ground has been frozen but a few days, and farmers have plowed and sowed grain every month during the winter, and the weather now seems more like May than the 15th of February. Many are plowing and preparing ground for gardening, etc. Although there has been no snow in the valleys, there is considerable in the mountains and miners are expecting a favorable mining season next summer. The winter having been mild they have got well prepared to take advantage of the mining season when it comes, we we are expecting a large yield of the precious metal. Many valuable improvements are going on. Among them is a canal, to conduct the water from Grand Ronde river to a point near the corporate limits of the town of La Grande, for the purpose of driving machinery, &c. One and a half miles of canal will secure thirty feet of fall and make a water power sufficient to drive a large amount of machinery and furnish an excellent chance for some enterprising persons of capital to invest, as this section of country is being rapidly settled up, creating a demand for lumber, sash, doors and all kinds of building material .....Col. Hudnutt, the locating engineer of the Union Pacific Railroad, is now about at Farewell Bend of Snake river, marching steadily on with a corps of eighteen engineers and four supply wagons, and making a very thorough survey and examination of the route. If a grant of land is given this company and no extraordinary money crisis arrives before spring opens, it is expected that this branch railroad will be put under contract from the north end of Salt Lake to some point on the Columbia river, early next spring. At the rate of speed that has been obtained in construction, the road will be in running order to the Columbia river by July, 1870.

DOWN THE COLUMBIA.—Vancouver and Washougal both are ruined. The Puget Sound railroad, which is not built yet, will not cross the Columbia at either of those places. Better places have been discovered down the river. There are two or three places below the confluence of the Columbia and Wallamet, at each of which the railroad is sure to cross. The welfare of the respective towns, or sites where towns might be built if the world could only be brought to look at things through the right sort of glasses, demands that the railroad shall cross at each of these latter points. When, however, we talk about crossing the river, we do not mean St. Helens. The constitution and temper of that burg will not bear crossing. The railroad must terminate there. A correspondent of the Commercial, writing from St. Helens, on this important topic, says: "If the Pacific railroad should terminate here, it would make a place of St. Helens, but if it terminates one inch short of here, or go beyond us, we are doomed to sleep until Gabriel blows his horn." Now that is what we call conclusive. The railroad must run to St. Helens; and it must not run any further. Otherwise St. Helens will cut no further figure in the history of the world; and what would the world be without any St. Helens in it? St. Helens is, in something, like the boy who was digging for a woodchuck. A bystander asked him if he expected to get the varmint. "Git 'im!" said the boy, astonished at the question; "Git 'im! Of course I will; I've got to git 'im. We've got no meat at home." The question of terminus may be considered as forever settled. There are, however, a few selfish and inconsiderate people down the river who own town sites outside of St. Helens, and who don't care a fig, evidently, if that village should take as long a nap as that suggested by the Commercial's correspondent. Hard of heart as Oregon's own basalt, they are going on and discovering the exact places where the railroad will surely cross the Columbia. The same correspondent says: "A new town site has been located at Carr's Landing, opposite Norman's Fishery. It is to be called Bridgeport. We are info[illegible] by Mr. Carr, the proprietor, that the Portland and Puget Sound Railroad will cross the river here." Of course it will—the Carrs are already there; and the town is called Bridg*eport*, suggestive of a bridge and a port of entry, etc. There is another place, however, down the river which claims the honor. The correspondent says: "It is the firm belief of everybody at Rainier that the Railroad will cross at that point. Consequently town property is held at a high figure." There's another stab at St. Helens, a stab at Vancouver and a stab at Washougal. What's to be done? If the railroad should be built before the town proprietors settle the point as to the only practicable crossing, it would be immensely embarrassing to the railroad company.

BRIEF MENTION.—The weather for the last few days has been of the persuasion, delightful—warm, bright and balmy. No country or people ever had pleasanter winter days......Many of our people are engaged in early gardening......Aside from the people who are in attendance upon the court, there are very few people in from the country, during the prevailing pleasant weather. It is supposed they are looking after the "crap" prospects. The city, in consequence, wears a more than usually quiet aspect......The river is again getting quite low. The Columbia is lower than ever before known in winter time and navigation above Celilo is still impracticable......There are numerous cases of sickness in the city resulting from colds. Sore throat is a frequent accompaniment. Whooping cough is prevalent among children......Improvements are springing into view in all parts of the city. Preparations for building are quite general. Quite a number of fine bricks are in contemplation......Oscar Kilbourn is again in the auctioneer line......A. B. Richardson, auctioneer, advertises an important real estate sale on the 25th inst......Mr. John P. Sutton is engaged in making a model of an improvement upon his dynamometer. He is sanguine that he has hit upon the most perfect instrument ever inv[illegible]ed......Several velocipedes may be expected to make their appearance on our streets in a few days [illegible] three or four of the three-wheel variety nearly [illegible] W. B. Norman expects to receive several of the latest and best styles of the two-wheel kind, by [illegible] now nearly due......The dredger will soon resume work at Swan Island bar.

MAN SHOT AT THE CASCADES.—The following telegram was received from the Cascades yesterday, and published in the Commercial of last evening:

"CASCADES, Feb. 18th, 1869.—About 10 o'clock last night, a desperate character named Wm. Curran, alias "Oregon Bill," who was boarding at Mr. McCary's opposite the steamboat landing, forcibly entered Mrs. McCary's bedroom—her husband being absent, she called for help. Several men who were boarding there, came to her assistance and ordered him to leave, which he did, taking his blankets, but shortly returned and refused to leave the house, when Mr. Sumner shot him. He could not be found last night, but this morning he was found about three hundred yards from the house, life being extinct. The deceased is about thirty-five years of age. He is from Missouri.

OVERLAND TRAVEL.—A gentleman connected with the O. S. N. Co., who has taken the pains to ascertain from Salt Lake, the prices of fare from that point eastward, fur[illegible] us with the following information. The fare by stage and rail is as follows in currency:

From Salt Lake to Omaha		$93 00
" "	Chicago	132 25
" "	New York	152 25
" "	Cincinnati	143 70
" "	Philadelphia	150 45
" "	Boston	155 25
" "	Washington	149 95

As soon as navigation upon the Columbia is resumed to Umatilla, tickets from Portland to Salt Lake City can be purchased at the office of the O. S. N. Co. for $115, coin. The total fare from Portland to Chicago will, therefore, be $212 87, coin.

ANOTHER CONCERT.—The Misses Mircier, we are informed will give another concert some time during the next month. The success of the former one, and the conceded musical talent of Miss Octavia, are sufficient guarantee of a triumph whenever she shall choose to appear. We hear it very generally remarked, even among the best musical critics, that her performances of the other night were equal, if not superior, to those of any singer who has ever appeared before a Portland audience, and there seems to be a general desire that she shall soon appear again. She will, as before, have the assistance of some of our best and most popular musicians.

PERSONAL.—Dr. O. P. S. Plummer, Division Superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph line was in this city yesterday. He will start southward again to-day, going along the line to make all necessary repairs. The Doctor's present residence is Roseburg. He thinks he likes that town and Umpqua Valley pretty well, though it is a comparatively slow country. We were pleased to see the Doctor looking as hearty as a bear, and as pleasant as a May morning.

INSANE.—A few days ago an advertisement appeared in one of the morning papers of a coat found in the pockets of which were letters addressed to "C. Taylor." The owner has been found, in the person of an insane man of that name, who came up from San Francisco on the last steamer and has been stopping apart or all the time since, at the Exchange Hotel. He was taken yesterday to the Insane Asylum at East Portland. He came from Nevada.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.—W. R. Dunbar, Deputy for Oregon, came down yesterday from Salem for the purpose of organizing a Division of the Sons of Temperance at Oregon City. The institution will take place this evening. A movement for the organization of a Division in this city, will doubtless be made while Mr. Dunbar is here.

BALL AT OREGON CITY.—Messrs. White & Rhoades, of the Cliff House, Oregon City, will give a grand ball next Monday, Washington's birthday. Under the management of those gentlemen, the party will be sure to be a pleasant one, as they understand the "best" business admirably. The Cliff House has a fine dancing hall, and the best music has been secured.

CIRCUIT COURT.—In the Circuit Court, yesterday the testimony and argument in the case of Heath vs. Gibson and Wilson, were concluded and the case submitted to the jury.

BURGLARY.—The provision and variety store of Messrs. Weeks & Morgan was broken into a night or two since. The burglars, however, contented themselves with stealing a box of candles.

THANKS to the ladies of the Congregational Festival for a beautiful fruit cake. The hungry editor and printer appreciate such remembrances.

GOING EAST.—Mr. Edward Giddings, of Olympia, arrived at this city, yesterday, en route to Washington City.

[illegible]

The Boston Transcript says: "William Cullen Bryant, of whom as a poet, [illegible] letters America is just reason to be proud, proposes to issue [illegible] the press of Messrs. Fields, Osgood & Co. [illegible] Homer's Iliad during the present year. This announcement will be received with great pleasure by every one who takes a just pride in our national literature. Mr. Bryant's qualifications for the task are [illegible] and not the least among them is his wonderful mastery of English blank verse. Judging by the specimens of the Greek poet which Mr. Bryant has printed from time to time, there is every reason to anticipate that he will achieve for Homer what has never yet been achieved, namely, a literal, and at the same time a thoroughly poetical translation into English. Neither Pope nor Cowper can be said to have left behind them a satisfactory presentation of the great poet. Old British Chapman in spite of Keat's admiration for him, has the gravest faults, and his rendering of the blind poet, though it is very strong and sonorous, is far from fulfilling the demands of modern taste. Lord Derby and the late translators scarcely deserve mention in this connection. From Mr. Bryant may confidently be expected a version that shall leave little for further attempts in Homeric translation. The present era of American literature will be signalized by the production of the world's two greatest poems—the 'Divine Comedy,' translated by Longfellow, and Homer's 'Iliad,' translated by Bryant."

PRISON PUNISHMENT.—Imprisonment with hard labor will never have the slightest effect in deterring such men from committing crime. Labor that would soon kill many other men would not punish them, but they would prefer it even to sitting in school. Rough fare they can do with as long as it fills the belly. They have no other ambition to gratify. With the stomach distended and a quid of tobacco in their mouths, they are as happy as Kings, and very careless about liberty. Many of them when they leave the prison, leave home. To such men, and to all the class of vagrant and pauper criminals, a convict prison means a comfortable home, where they are fed and clothed, and bathed and physicked, and have all their wants supplied, without trouble or care, in exchange for their liberty and such labor as they can easily and cheaply perform. To the professional thieves a convict prison is a Court of Bankruptcy to be avoided if possible, and to be made the most of when unavoidable. A place of punishment nearly useless and entirely misdirected. To the man who has wrought for his living at some honest trade up to the commission of his first known offence, who has been reconnted respectable by his neighbors, and who belongs to a class of society with whom loss of character is utter ruin—a convict prison is a hell. If he happen also to be a man of thought and education, it will in addition appear to be an institution for robbing honest tax payers, and a nursery of vice and crime, which all good men should endeavor to reform or destroy.—Six Years in the Prisons of England, in Temple Bar.

How often do you hear the complaint from mother and father that their son or daughter is not well, that they have no appetite; that they feel languid; that their head aches; that they are growing thin and feeble, and that they have no life or energy left. That they are low spirited, and perfectly incapacitated to participate in any pleasure, or perform any mental or physical duty. And the question is as often asked, what shall I do for them? or, what shall I give them? Our answer is, let them try PLANTATION BITTERS moderately three times a day, and our word for it they will recover.

Virginia Dictation

There is a strong movement among the "first families of Virginia" to "reconstruct" by partial acceptance of the requirements of the laws. But there are some who oppose it with bluster and rant. Henry A. Wise and Jubal Early are both exclaiming that they prefer death to dishonor. The "first families" who favor reconstruction agree to concede impartial suffrage, but they want a general amnesty with it; that is, they want Congress to remove the disabilities imposed by the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution. They even make this a condition. There is no probability that Congress will accede to the demand. No one need doubt that Virginia will accept equal suffrage without the amnesty. It is smart but "cheeky" in her politicians to make their demand, but there would seem to be no valid reason why Virginia should ask or receive better terms than were granted to the Carolinas or Louisiana. In truth, the influence of Virginia was paramount for mischief among all the seceding States at the outbreak of the rebellion. To Virginia principles and politicians may be traced back, with a singularly undeviating accuracy, the fatal path which led a third part of the Republic from their loyal allegiance down through treason and rebellion to an abyss of disaster and dishonor. It is not necessary to visit severer penalties upon this influential State, but it is difficult to see why she should now ask or expect exemption from any of those consequences which have justly been visited upon the lesser States—States that may frankly lay much of their own criminality at the door of the Old Dominion. The reconstruction which eight of the offenders have accepted is good enough for the other three. Virginia dictation is forever at an end. She once ruled the country as with a rod of iron; she was the citadel of the false Democracy which instilled destructive ideas into so large a portion of the Republic. Poor, fallen Virginia! We cannot exult over her condition, but no person who traces out cause and effect can fail to see in that condition a most terrible retribution.

Good Advice.

The New York World, with all its faults, is about the only leading paper of its party which has any political sense. In an article entitled, "A hint to Democrats," that paper gives its party some good advice which it would do well to heed. It says: "The members of the Democratic party, from the highest to the lowest (if there be any such distinction in a party that is Democratic to the core), cannot be too thoroughly permeated with the idea that the new era upon which we are entering—indeed, have entered—calls for new men where old ones have not succeeded, and for an intelligent discernment between the issues that belong to the dead past and those which are instinct with the life of to-day and quickened with a life in the future." In other words, nothing more is to be made by "renewing faith in the resolutions of '98," or by kicking against the "nigger." Colored men vote to-day in nineteen of the thirty-seven States, and in most of the other eighteen States the Republicans are in the majority. We do not despair even of seeing some Democrats wise enough to give up kicking against the inevitable and inscribing upon their banners something more in harmony with the spirit of the age than hatred to the "nigger."

Fines for Selling Unstamped Articles.

A very large number of cases are pending in the United States Court, District of Oregon, growing out of alleged violations of the revenue law; and we hear that more cases are expected. The parties prosecuted are merchants and traders, who, it is alleged, have sold canned goods and the like without the stamps which the law requires to be affixed. It is unfortunate that prosecutions of this sort occur so often and so numerously; but the fault is neither in the law nor in those who administer it. The law is not a new one, nor is it obscure or difficult to obtain. It has been on the statute book for several years, and it is very little trouble to any person who is engaged in business to acquire a sufficient knowledge of its provisions. The penalties for its violation are heavy; they could not be otherwise. Were they trifling, the Government would have no adequate means of preventing frauds, and no one would take the trouble to lodge information against the parties violating the law. The business of an informer has always been regarded as more or less odious, and it is expected that he will make enemies of those who are prosecuted through his agency; but it is necessary for the protection of the Government to have the use of his services, and those who are "caught up" generally owe their misfortune to their own negligence. We hope that persons who are engaged in selling goods that require stamps will conclude that it is good policy to exercise a little more care, so that when the man who takes so much interest in buying unstamped packages comes round, they will have nothing but the stamped article to sell him.

A MUCH ARGUED QUESTION.—We observe that in some quarters a demand is made for the repeal of the tenure of office law on the ground that it interferes with the constitutional power of the President to make appointments. This demand is put forth even by some Republicans. It rests on a false basis. The power of appointment is not in the hands of the President. The Constitution gives him no such power, nor ever did. That power belongs to the President and the Senate. It has been held by the ablest expounders of the Constitution we have ever had, by Webster, by Calhoun, by Clayton, that Congress has power to enact a law regulating the tenure of offices; that as the power of appointment belongs to the President and the Senate, the power of removal is necessarily in the same hands. Within the last two years this whole matter has been thoroughly discussed, and at every point those who have claimed that the tenure of office act is constitutional have had the advantage in the argument.

Relative to Willow creek, the Idaho Statesman has the following: "Mr Myers, one of its prominent citizens, estimates the population who will engage in mining there this spring at about fifteen hundred. Two small towns are growing up and considerable building going on. The place has a lively business appearance, and will be a camp during the coming season. The ditch will be about eighty miles in length, and will furnish water at not to exceed twenty cents. The ditch passes along a divide at the head of many rich gulches which will pay from the head down so that the water can be used several times. The ditch is being constructed from the lower end, taking the water of several small streams at once to the mining district in sufficient quantities to keep a large population at work this season."

Small Notes

During the year 1868 21[illegible] immigrants arrived at the port of New York. Of these 101,989, or nearly one half, were from Germany. Ireland furnished [illegible], England 29,695 and Sweden, 11,520.

Some of the English papers are expressing themselves in favor of giving Gibraltar up to Spain. It costs Great Britain £300,000 a year to support that rock for military purposes alone, and Admiral Grey, in [illegible] to the Times, points out "the utter [illegible] of Gibraltar in a military, naval and political point of view."

A writer in [illegible] Magazine asserts that the Catholic clergy "are on better terms with the more advanced school of physical research than Protestant divines. They don't quarrel with Brodhat or Lyell. They do not get nervous when some one unearths a new tooth from the oolite, or picks up a piece of pottery from the pliocene tertiary. They have given up the fight with demonstrative science, and are the stronger for it."

We are gratified to find one Territorial paper which takes a right view of the State question, which nearly all the Territories are agitating. The Idaho Statesman says: "There is not a Territory in legal existence, from Nebraska to the Pacific, that ought to be organized as a State, or which, with its present population or resources can be either enlarged or diminished, or moulded into any form adapted to that purpose."

The Commercial, for the vindication of Democratic principles, prints an article which informs the world that, "No men ever perished in a more hallowed cause than the Confederate dead, for they fought for their native land and their independence, and the day will come when their memories will be hallowed by all friends of true liberty and constitutional government. Their blood has soddened the ground, but their example will raise up men who will yet vindicate the true principles of government and hurl the usurping traitors, who would destroy it, from power."

New York papers say the most respectable and trustworthy citizens are enrolled on the Vigilance Committees. The police have quietly encouraged the movement. Nearly every member of the force has been taunted with his inefficiency in not securing the murderer of Rogers, but the policemen have replied ironically, "Well, what has been done with the murderers that we have caught? Have they been hanged? We take prisoners to a court, but we meet them again in the street on our way back to the station." These grave charges that are made by the police are beginning to have a serious effect upon the public mind.

What is Most Needed.

[From the Iowa State Register.]

The country is just now over-dosed with Political Economy. Nearly every man is a doctor, and nearly every doctor wants to ply the patient with a potion, so that if there was originally no danger from the disease, there is now a great deal from the drugs. What was need in matters of National Finance, is, not Greeleyism, nor Shermanism, nor Mortonism, nor Butlerism, but Rest—assurance of something like stability. In the fear that the resumption of specie payment is to be summarily forced upon the country, business men who are in debt dare not increase their expenditures, capitalists are afraid to invest on the basis of present values, and meantime, capital, labor, and enterprise, are fast approaching that condition of stagnation which is only an other name for ruin.

The remedy is not primarily with Congress, nor the Secretary of the Treasury, nor the Supreme Court; but with the people themselves—property holders, tax payers and voters. Let them say to law-makers, law executors, and law adjudicators "Hands off! No farther tinkering with the finance." Let the industry of the country be secure in the belief that there is to be no sudden nor unlooked for change in the valuation of property, through legislation or fulminations from the wool-sack. Let the incoming President have a fair chance to inaugurate the same system of practical economy in all departments under his control that he demonstrated in the war office during the brief time that he was (ad interim) Secretary; let that swarm of vultures which constitute the "Whisky Ring," and which annually diverted (stole is a better word,) on an average seventy millions of dollars of the taxation on spirits alone, from the Federal Treasury, be annihilated and the money question will settle itself. The great error under which those who would doctor our finances labor, is in supposing they must in a month, or year, or two or three years, bring money values to just what they were before the war. In England, at one period, specie payment was suspended for twenty-three years, and when it was resumed it was with a four years' notification of resumption. In the resources of the countries there can be no comparison. Look at what we have done by simply letting industrial pursuits take care of themselves! At the close of the war, in the spring of 1865, the indebtedness of the Government, funded and unfunded, was about $3,200,000,000. In three years and a half, more than $800,000,000 of the amount was paid. At the same rate of reduction, the public debt would be all paid, ten and a half years hence. But the rate of reduction would be greatly increased. The sum of $800,000,000 was paid without the aid of the ten unreconstructed States. Seven of those States are now back in their place in the Union. The other three will be soon back, and then with the agriculture and commerce of the South re*established, the public revenue would be largely* increased, and the public indebtedness diminished.

The revenues of the Government are now derived from duties on importations, and the direct taxation of incomes, liquors, tobacco, and other so-called luxuries. From these sources of income the Governmental current expenses can be borne, the interest on the public debt be paid, and a fair share of the principal of the debt wiped out. So all we ask of legislators, judges, and political economical essayists, is to let us, i. e., producers, manufacturers, tradesmen, &c., alone with the volume of greenbacks and National Bank notes precisely as it is, and the questions of gold payments and public debt reductions will in good time work out their own proper problems, without the individual wreck and ruin which must otherwise be visited upon all sections of the country, but especially upon the West. To compel them to guarantee to us some sort of stability of policy, the Public Opinion which Daniel Webster declared was more potent than earthquakes or whirlwinds, should be invoked, and its power practically enforced. "Let us have peace."

The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune explains in this way the steps by which a man becomes a "prominent candidate for the Cabinet."

"The popular and accomplished Tide Waiter, Esq., of Maine, and the Hon. Whisky Blossom, M. C., of Illinois, meet on the avenue, greet each other with effusions and mutually inquire 'what's the news?' Waiter, Esq., responds with the information that Jones thinks John Covode would do for Postmaster General, and Blossom, M. C., scorning Jones' opinion, as who should say 'Am I not one of the noble army of opinion-makers in general for the nation myself?' Blossom, M. C., announces that, as for himself, he thinks the claims of the Pacific Coast can't be ignored by a President who once lived there, and if John Conness isn't put in the Cabinet, Republican Congressmen will know the reason why. The [illegible] gentlemen separate. Next day the [illegible] and other second rate boarding houses of the capital tingle with the news that Conness and Covode are prominent candidates for the Cabinet, that the pressure for both is tremendous, and that [illegible] sure to go in."

The State of Nebraska [illegible] thousand square miles of land, more than New York. She presents [illegible] the best chance to obtain any of Uncle Sam's agricultural domain. West of Nebraska [illegible] mountains [illegible] the lands are occupied. [illegible] lands are cheap, but the price will [illegible] constant increase in the future, and not many years will elapse ere "free lands for the landless" will become only a record in history.

A criminal was brought to [illegible]. On ascending the platform he turned and asked the executioner what day is this? "Why do you ask?" "I want to know." "Well, it is Sunday." "I have begun the week badly."

The Treaty

The [illegible] takes ground against the Clarendon-Johnson treaty, and [illegible] a [illegible] [illegible] that gives the British [illegible] the [illegible] like the bargain which the white hunter [illegible] proposed to the red man [illegible] the turkey while you take the [illegible] take the crow, while I take the [illegible] Mr. Reverdy Johnson and discover where [illegible] always turkey to [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible]. This is a treaty [illegible]. [illegible] under [illegible] which we would like to have President Grant [illegible] rebel cruisers [illegible] by our courts are all trumped up [illegible] American [illegible] Government [illegible] are the aggrieved party. Nobody knows this better than the British Government [illegible] by the English pirates amounting to only about twenty millions of dollars, it should be for the [illegible] our entire commerce, which these privateers swept from the seas. If England pays merely for the vessels actually destroyed, and retains the vast profits she has secured by having all freight into British bottoms, grasping all our navigation and retaining it up to the present time [illegible] hundreds of millions of dollars. Now, how will Mr. Reverdy Johnson's treaty work? The commissioners first differ. They then cast lots to see whether the arbitrator on this claim shall be the one selected by the British Commissioners only or the one chosen by ours only. If the lot decides in their favor, the claim is submitted solely to one British Commissioner; if in ours, they have no chance more. For the first question on which the arbitrator decides is only the right to recover. The Commissioners may differ on the amount. If so, they cast lots again for the arbitrator, and if they get him they have chance No. 2 to escape the payment. But if they lose the arbitrator both on the question of recovery and of amount, so that the decision of the Commission would result in favor of the American claimant, the two British Commissioners may demand that the question be submitted to Napoleon III or some other foreign ruler. If we fail to agree, that is an end of the remedy, if not a bar to the claim. Here are three chances of escape by England to one of payment. Now suppose the English rebel bondholders and blockade runners present their claims. The Commissioners toss up a copper to decide who shall have the umpire on the question of liability. If the umpire appointed by the two English Commis*sioners shall be selected*, he decides that the United States, by recognizing the Confederacy as an alien enemy and a belligerent power, and then conquering it and succeeding to its assets, became responsible for its debts. Is this a question which, by the trickery of Mr. Reverdy Johnson, the United States are to be wheedled into submitting to some one umpire appointed by two British Commissioners, and who may be, for aught we could say, Mr. Laird or Mr. Roebuck himself? But should the lot decide that this question is to be decided by the American umpire, the two British Commissioners may demand that it be submitted to Napoleon III., who it may be assumed would hold in favor of Confederate bondholders. There is nothing in the treaty to show that the Commissioners may not demand that a question be withdrawn from the Commission and submit*ted to a foreign potentate after as well as before it* has been passed upon by the umpire selected by themselves.

What the Standish Steam Plow Has Done

The following in reference to the performances of the above named time and latest test is from the Mining and Scientific Press, of January 30th.

This question is now asked with a good deal of interest by farmers, and especially by land-holders owning considerable tracts of arable soil in the level valleys. That the favorable reports with regard to the work done by the plow, and the building of a new plow of enlarged capacity, which is just completed at the Union Foundry, are justified by the successful manner, economically, in which the machine has encountered the test of practice, under intentionally unfavored circumstances, will duly appear from the following particulars:

The Kilsbor ranch, of 800 acres, between Clayton and Pacheco, Contra Costa county, is of a moderately rolling, gravely character, and the ground is of that hard, dry and tough character which is peculiar to California; the exact consistency of which will be best understood by farmers, from the fact that it required a team of three horses to draw a single 12 inch plow running four inches deep. The land was plowed last two years ago. In this the steam plow accomplished from two to three acres an hour,—three acres when everything was going all right, plowing to a depth of five inches, and consuming from eight to one hundred pounds of Mount Diablo coal to the acre, the plow pulverizing the ground thoroughly at the same time, and therefore requiring no additional harrowing. In good ground they accomplished easily thirty to thirty five acres a day.

Two men—an engineer, and a steersman who also raises and lowers the cutters—are required, together with a water hauler; the total expense for which is less than ten dollars a day. Coal landed at Martinez costs seven dollars per ton.

The wear and tear consists in sharpening the twenty four cutters, once for every twenty to thirty acres, at a cost of a bit apiece, and in replacing them with a new set of knives on an average of once for every 1,000 to 1,500 acres plowed, at a cost of seventy-five cents apiece, being of cast steel, and containing about $18 worth of steel. In the other parts of the machinery there is no more wear and tear than there would be in ordinary machinery; the motion over uneven ground being so steady as not to do the least damage, and the engine never getting out of order necessarily during an entire season. The wear of the gearing is prevented by means of a flexible joint, which gives way when any hard substance is struck.

The cost per acre, from actual experience was less than a dollar; the expense for fuel, and for attendance (including water hauling) being about the same, or half a dollar per acre.

As an experiment, alternate widths of fifty feet were plowed with the steam and the ordinary plow, in order to observe the different effect the two kinds of plowing would have upon the crops, and it was observed that owing to the complete pulverization effected with the former, the soil looking moister, in a spell of drying weather which succeeded the plowing; the consequence being that the steam plow's crop grew faster. The *owner of the land, Mr. Kilsbor, paid three dol*lars an acre (the ordinary gang plow price being $2 50) and was so pleased with the work that propositions were made for the purpose of retaining the plow permanently on the place.

In traveling from Martinez to Pacheco—a very hilly and rough road—the plow had to descend grades from one to six feet, and it has gone through holes presenting one to three feet. Good plowing has been done on one to twelve feet though the plow is intended for a level country.

For the gravely soil at Kilsbor's, soft iron knife arms were used, set like a coulter, in such a manner as to twist on striking a boulder, before breaking. Only a few of these were twisted in the course of a day.

The new plow referred to at the Union Foundry is for Mr. Miller, of this city, and is much larger than the present plow, having a working capacity of 100 horse power. It is destined for heavy and continuous service on a large tract of level valley land that will occupy it for the full season.

When the harvest time comes, these plows are to be transformed into reapers and threshers, using straw for fuel.

SHAKING HANDS.—As a mode of salutation [illegible] [illegible] in various [illegible]. There are nations [illegible], or at least tribes, the people of which [illegible] each other the time of day by rubbing noses. Now the [illegible] of this is manifest, because [illegible] [illegible] how the [illegible] [illegible] with a snout. Worse than this, [illegible] more difficult, is the gymnastic salutation in usage among the natives of some mountain regions of [illegible] [illegible] together. When two [illegible] meet, they [illegible] the right leg and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. The [illegible] a great antiquity and [illegible] [illegible] natural way of expressing [illegible] [illegible]. DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

DATES TO FEBRUARY 18.

The Pacific Railroad

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—C. C. Huntington, before the Congressional Pacific Railroad Committee charges the Union Pacific with not making a first class road, while the Central Pacific has complied with the law, and claims that the latter is entitled to complete the work to Ogden, where the junction should be fixed. Ames replies for the Union Pacific. He says the latter is within thirty miles of Ogden, while the Central is two hundred miles distant. He insists on the right to advance the work until it meets the Central.

Revenue Trials.

TRENTON, Feb. 18.—The trial of Collectors Thomas and Sanders for alleged revenue frauds was concluded yesterday, with a verdict of one hundred thousand dollars for the Government.

Washington News.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—The Tribune's special says: E. B. Washburne's condition is much worse, and his friends are beginning to be alarmed.

The conference report in the naval appropriation bill reduces the marine corps to eighteen hundred. It also reduces the number of officers, and saves the Government about one million yearly.

The Times' special says Grant has extended to Colfax the usual courtesy of making one Cabinet appointment. He has selected John D. Defrees as Postmaster General.

Symmes, the pedestrian, started yesterday to walk from Chicago to Chattanooga. The thirteen hundred miles are to be accomplished in thirty days.

From Cuba.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—The Herald's Havana special says:

The American steamer Estelle has been seized at Kingston for money advanced for repairs.

The second telegraph cable end which was lost last summer, has been picked up and is now in working order.

The steamer from Cadiz brought two Generals, five hundred regulars and Maurice Roberts, the new Spanish Minister to Washington as passengers.

The Cuban revolution promises an early and complete success. All accounts show that the insurgents are advancing rapidly. Dulce's vigorous repressive policy stimulates the rebellion instead of extinguishing it.

Six hundred insurgents are surrounded by troops in the Cochino swamp.

The Diario says the majority of the population of Villa Clara are loyal.

Five deaths from cholera occurred at Santiago on the 10th. The epidemic is increasing. The negroes are destitute of food and are returning to the plantations. There are frequent desertions of volunteers. They fear the cholera.

South America.

A Rio letter of the 8th inst. says:

Lopez has been formally called upon to lay down his arms, and indignantly refuses. Minister McMahon, it is reported, advises Lopez to continue the fight.

Heavy Snow Storm in Canada

MONTREAL, Feb. 18.—The Quebec Legislature has adjourned for want of a quorum. The snow storm prevented the members from reaching the Capital. The snow is eight feet deep in the streets. One hundred and eighteen inches of snow have fallen this winter. Several lumber camps have ceased operations, owing to the difficulty of getting provisions into the woods.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

PARIS, Feb. 17.—Reports that the ex King Ferdinand has consented to be a candidate for the Spanish throne are premature. He still refuses to allow his name to be used in that connection.

A majority of the constituents of Cortes are opposed to Montpensier and there is little prospect of his success.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—This afternoon John Stanford was found dead in his room, at Haven's Place, under circumstances which lead to the supposition that he committed suicide.

The subject of a penny post for this city was discussed at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last evening, and referred to a committee. *Postmaster Smith will do all in his power to fur*ther the success of the plan.

The Committee of Supervisors, at a special meeting held last evening concluded to suspend proceedings in the outside land matters until the charges made on Monday evening have been investigated by the grand jury.

The small pox, after almost dying out, has made another start. Yesterday eight cases more were recorded. The number to-day, however, promises to be less.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Coit, nee Lillie Hitchcook, whose recent clandestine marriage created such a sensation in japonicadom, arrived from the East last evening and were serenaded at the Occidental Hotel by the Knickerbockers, No. 5, of which fire company the lady was formerly an honorary member.

The schooner Wild Gazelle, from Boston, for this port, has been obliged to put in at Rio in distress.

The ship Young America arrived to-day with a full cargo of railroad iron for the Central Pacific Company.

California Railroad Matters.

WOODLAND, Feb. 18.—The engineer corps of the California Pacific Railroad, in charge of T. H. Petersen, completed their survey to this place this morning from Davisville. They report the ground in good condition for grading, and work is to commence on the Davisville end of the line immediately.

FROM THE NORTH.

SEATTLE, Feb. 18.—On Thursday morning last at about 2 o'clock, a shock of an earthquake was felt at Port Townsend. It lasted several seconds and was quite perceptibly felt.

The ship Aurora, which arrived at Port Discovery on Monday morning from San Francisco, while beating between Protection Island and Rocky Point, struck upon Groves rock and knocked off a portion of her fore foot.

The following vessels are now receiving cargoes of lumber at Port Gamble: Rainier, Eliza [illegible], Pacific, Alaska and Intrepid. The bark Camden has gone to Bellingham Bay to load with coal. The brig H. W. Lawson and bark [illegible] are taking lumber at Port Ludlow. The new bark Forest Queen will be ready for sea in about three weeks. The bark [illegible], for Seabeck from San Francisco, was spoken on Thursday last, ten miles west of Cape Flattery.

VICTORIA, Feb. 18.—The confederation question came before the Legislature yesterday. After a long debate a vote was taken with the following result: [illegible] against confederation and [illegible] in favor. By this decision the Council expresses its opinion that confederation is neither practicable nor desirable at present.

H. M. S. Satellite, from China and Japan, arrived at Esquimalt yesterday.

A Bridgeport, Connecticut, Sunday school teacher [illegible] his class last week in regard to the origin of Christianity with the following result: "Where was Christ born?" "At Bethlehem." "Where's Bethlehem?" "In Judea." "Who first knew that Christ was born?" "His mother."

We suppose we may soon expect a fearful public outbreak of the "velocipede mania." In this city just now, there are nearly a dozen learners of the velocipede locomotion, and we believe there are something like a dozen places where the art is publicly taught. The trouble thus far has been in getting a full supply of velocipedes to meet the popular demand, but of course this trouble will soon disappear. We hear that the mania has extended over the country, and that velocipedal professors have appeared in Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati and other places. The velocipede has been something more than a nine days' wonder—it will probably be at least a year's wonder.—[illegible].

The shrill whistle of the railway engine is soon to be heard in Persia. The Shah has granted to a company of English capitalists the exclusive right to construct railways in the country for a period of twenty years. These capitalists begin operations with a short road extending from the capital to the suburban village of Rey, a famous weekly resort of pious Teheranlees. Ground has been broken, and the engineer employed estimates that the line can be constructed and stocked for less than $500,000, on which the passenger traffic of some forty thousand devotees a week will, he reckons, yield a remunerative dividend, exclusive of an 8 per cent. guarantee.

A correspondent of the Union Democrat, writing from San Francisco, describes the perambulating chlorinator in the following graphic style:

"Disinfecting goes on lively. Rowell's chlorinating perambulator is rushed through the principal streets every day. It is a barrel on wheels which puffs scientific stinks from the bung hole. The general effect is strangulating. It leaves behind it a long chorus of coughs, grunts and sneezes."

ENTERPRISE TRIUMPHANT.—The OREGON DISPENSARY is establishing a reputation second to no house on the coast as a first class and Cheap Drug Store.

Our success has been so flattering that we have sent for another Apothecary. We have also secured the valuable services of Dr. J. A. CHAPMAN as Consulting Surgeon and Physician, thus giving evidence of our desire to afford the best of everything to our patrons for their liberal patronage.

LORYEA & KALLENBERG,
73 First street.

OPPOSITION LINE OF STEAMERS.—A private letter from San Francisco says that a strong and well regulated Steamship company was formed in that city for the purpose of running a line of steamers regularly between San Francisco and Portland. The steamers are known to be suitable for the Oregon trade, and are noted for good speed and splendid passenger accommodation. The people of Oregon will have an opportunity of showing whether they are willing to patronize good and staunch steamers, at a reasonable price for freight and passage, as it will depend on the patronage these steamers will receive whether they will remain in our waters or not.

While you think of opposition, remember that KOHN & FISHEL, No. 91 Front street, have the finest stock of Clothing and Dry Goods, and sell at very low prices.
